COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Bachelor Program in Arts – Political Science at Aster Academy is a three-year undergraduate programme dedicated to the study of how the political world we live in has evolved. Political science is the study of the theory and practice of politics: it describes and analyses political activities, political thought and political phenomena at local, state, national and international levels.

Alongside the conventional areas of study such as the state, government, institutions, electoral politics and legislative processes, the programme focuses on lived political experience in the real world. Over three years, learners move from political theory and Indian political thought to government and politics in India, Western political thought, international and local government, and on to India's foreign policy, public administration, state institutions and civil society, and social movements in India.

Delivered through our flexible online learning ecosystem, with a fast-track option, the programme builds analytical, research and communication skills valued in civil services preparation, public administration, policy research, journalism, NGOs, law and further postgraduate study.
