Master labour law, industrial relations and workforce management.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Bachelor Program in Labour Management at Aster Academy is designed to help learners specialise in labour law and the management of people at work. It provides practical, application-focused training in labour law for people in the legal profession, the business world, trade unions and the public sector.

Those most likely to benefit include attorneys, advocates, legal advisers, labour consultants, civil servants, labour relations and personnel officers, managers and trade union officials.

Over three years, learners study management, industrial relations and the law, labour welfare legislation and industrial sociology, organisational behaviour and HR, then labour law and human rights, negotiation and conflict management, training and development, and industrial and labour economics, and finish with Indian and international labour law, wages and social security legislation, and personnel management and industrial psychology. Delivered through our flexible online learning ecosystem, with a fast-track option.
