COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Executive Diploma in Supply Chain Management is a one-year program for professionals who want to plan, run and improve the flow of goods from suppliers to customers. Supply chain managers coordinate sourcing, production, storage and distribution, and are responsible for controlling costs, maintaining the right stock levels, ensuring accurate information and keeping deliveries on schedule.

The program covers the essentials of management, supply chain management, logistics and distribution, production management, inventory management, and ocean and air cargo logistics. It also introduces sustainable and green operations, general operations and project management, equipping learners with the practical knowledge that today's businesses need. Graduates are prepared for roles in procurement, warehousing, logistics, distribution and operations across manufacturing, retail, e-commerce and shipping companies.
