COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Advanced Diploma in Hotel Management (ADHM) is a two-year, management-level program in hospitality and tourism. It gives students in-depth knowledge and practical skills in the key operational areas of a hotel: food production, food and beverage service, catering, front office operations and housekeeping and accommodation, along with hotel engineering and maintenance.

In the second year, students build their management capability through hospitality, business communication, the tourism industry and total quality management. The program prepares graduates for supervisory and managerial roles in hotels, resorts, restaurants, cruise lines, airlines and catering companies in India and abroad, and provides a strong foundation for further higher studies or a career in hospitality education.
